

Abstract of the Disclosure.

A winch for mounting upon a track having hooks and flanges
2 wherein the winch includes a base having lips homogeneously formed
3 of the base material which engage the track flanges. The winch
4 construction, and the method for making the winch, permits a high 5 strength construction to be economically formed by punching and 6 bending operations.